M1000 SERIES

Mobile business has changed drastically since the popularity of smartphone and tablets. No longer is notebook computer the main device for business activities. As a communication headset maker, Accutone® is proud to introduce a professional-grade headset for both tablets and computers.

Comes default with a CTIA-setting of 4-pin 3.5mm plug, the M-series 1000 headset connects natively to iOS and Android devices, supporting stereo audio and microphone input. When plugged in to the USB-adaptor, M1000 connects to any desktop or notebook computers, whether it is a Mac or a PC.

The headset itself carries the bloodline of the flagship Lexus 1010 headset, sharing the same sturdy architecture and adjustable fitting design, meanwhile weighing much less.

The M1000 also comes with an inline audio volume control with mute switch. The high-grade foam earpads are designed to prevent heating up after prolonged usage. Its special material ensures ultra comfort meanwhile maintaining high-end acoustics.
